Wm. Tate Scott Jr. Begins Pastorate At Central

WILLIAM TATE SCOTT JR.

When Rev. Fredrick A. Meyer announced in January, 1971, that he would retire no later than the end of that calendar year, action was initiated to find the best possible minister to replace him. Mr. Meyer was closing a highly fruitful ten-years of service as pastor of Central Congregational Church in Atlanta, Georgia.

In November, 1971, Central Church extended a call to Rev. William Tate Scott, Jr. Mr. Scott accepted the call and assumed his duties as of March 5, 1972.

William Tate Scott, Jr., from his early childhood, was acquainted with the life of a minister. His father, William Tate Scott, Sr., an ordained minister, now retired, is well known in the South where he had a distinguished career as a Conference Minister in the United Church of Christ.

Rev. Bill Scott has not limited his services to his own parishioners. He has been active in United Church of Christ Conference work and is currently a Corporate member of the U.C.C. Board of World Ministries. He has also worked in projects to develop new plans of Christian Education for adults and young people. Non-denominational assignments have included serving as Director of the Rhode Island Council of Churches and as a member of the State Governor's Advisory Commission on Educational Television.

In addition to wife Mary, the Scott fami-

CARING FOR THE CHURCH AT PENTECOST

Pentecost Sunday, of Whitsunday as it is sometimes called, will come on May 21 this year. Traditionally observed as the birthday of the church, Pentecost recalls the incident recorded in Acts 2:1-4 in which the Holy Spirit came upon the disciples, empowering them to participate in Christ's mission to and for the world. Pentecost is a particularly good time for us all to remember the whole church, rural and inner-city, in affluent America and in poverty-ridden parts of the Third World; behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains.

Pentecost is a time to remember that each congregation is incomplete unless and until it associates itself with Christ's church everywhere. In terms of our own United Church of Christ, each local congregation is joined together with other local congregations in an Association, a Conference, and a General Synod. The work we do separately is the work of the church; so is the work we do with others. Our Christian World Mission becomes the term we use to describe this larger work of the church done together.

Pentecost is a time to celebrate and renew our commitment to Christ and to His church. It is a time when — at the recommendation of the last General Synod — we shall focus especially on the mission which we have covenanted to do together.

Toward this end, every congregation of the United Church of Christ will be receiving material to help its members focus on this wider mission during the Pentecost season. Look for it in mailings and meetings of your local church.

The Board of Directors of the Southeast Conference meets April 18, 1972, in Atlanta, to make plans for the annual meeting of the Conference at Demorest, Ga., June 10 and 11, 1972. The Board will also review the financial situation of the Conference, the progress being made toward the "Conference Team Ministry," and emphasizes that are to be made.

Pilgrim, Chattanooga, Has New Pastor

DR. DAVID BEEBE

"It was good to be in the Pilgrim Church service last Sunday (March 12) . . . and to start our life together." So wrote Dr. David Beebe of his first Sunday as pastor of Pilgrim Church, Chattanooga, Tenn. He continued by thanking members of the congregation for working "so hard to prepare for our coming and to make us welcome when we arrived. We have never felt more welcome. It feels good!"

The Beebes — David, wife Judy and daughters Heather and Karen — moved late in February from Rome, Georgia, where David was on the faculty of Berry College, to the Pilgrim Church Manse, 1800 Crestwood Drive, Chattanooga.

A native of Nady, Arkansas, David was originally a Seventh Day Baptist; finally he "saw the light," winding up in the United Church of Christ.

Judy hails from Battle Creek, Michigan, worked as a secretary at Stanford University, California, prior to her marriage. Holder of a green-belt in Korean Akido, she is capable of keeping David in line.

Heather and Karen have already made new friends in the neighborhood. Thus the Beebes are off to a good start in their Chattanooga ministry.

Gifts Received Toward Audio-Visual Equipment

As a direct result of a recent appeal for contributions toward updating Southeast Conference audio-visual equipment, $75 was recently received from the Women's Fellowship and two interested members of Pilgrim Congregational Church, Birmingham, Ala

Because our record player was completely unusable, and had been set as a first priority for replacement, we have purchased a new Califone Model 1815. It made its debut at the Southeast Conference Youth Event, held recently at Camp Sumatanga, and is much appreciated.

It is the hope of the Education Commission that others will also contribute toward the audio-visual project.

Alabama Fellowship Plans Are Under Way

MRS. A. D. HARRY
presides over Alabama
Women's Officers

At a recent meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cameron, Indian Springs School, Helena, Ala., officers of the Alabama Women's Fellowship began plans for the Annual Retreat and Study Session.

Scheduled to be held on Saturday, June 3, at Southern Union State Junior College, Wadley, Ala., the one-day session will include worship, discussion, use of the film "It's About This Carpenter," a missionary speaker, two meals, and other highlights.

Plan now to attend. Watch for further details in the May Southeast News and in the mail.

As lightning flashed across the window, little Alton glanced up brightly and remarked, "Smile, Grandma — God is taking our picture!"

'EVANGELISM' THEME OF CONVOCATION

The Ministers' Convocation meeting May 8-10, 1972, at Callaway Gardens, will feature the following leaders: Dr. Eugene Wehrli, of Eden Theological Seminary; Rev. Al Krass, who has developed a program of Evangelism for many parts of the world and is especially needed in the United States at this time; and Rev. Horace Sills, well known in the Southeast Conference and now in charge of Development at Lancaster Theological Seminary. Basically the program will be on Evangelism, coming from the two priorities set up by the General Synod: The Local Church and the Faith Crisis. Ministers and their wives cannot afford to miss this opportunity. Dr. S. L. Johnson of Pilgrim Church, Birmingham, is chairman.

Howard Church, Nashville

Howard Church, Nashville, Tenn., is responding to needs of working mothers and their school-age children in the immediate area.

A recently-opened "Early Morning Center" cares for children between the time their mothers must go to work and the time the children must go to school. Volunteers man the center which is open from 6:30 to 9:30 A. M. on school days.

Thomasville, Ga., Bethany Church is gaining in strength, having added 13 new members just recently. They have installed new pews; most of the cost for the pews is taken care of. They are observing the 81st Anniversary, beginning on March 27 and continuing for five nights of services. The Rev. John H. Malone is the pastor.

The Sunday School teacher gave her class a long talk on sin, prayer, and asking forgiveness by praying. When she had finished the lesson, she asked little Kimberly, "What do we have to do before we ask the Lord to forgive us?"

"Sin," replied Kimberly confidently.

SEC Youth Meet At Camp Sumatanga

Living out the theme "We've Got to Live Together" was no easy matter at the SEC YOUTH ANNUAL EVENT held at Camp Sumatanga, Gallant, Alabama, March 10, 11 and 12. We experienced joy, frustration, noise and quiet, thoughtful moments.

Participants examined how black and white persons feel about themselves as persons and about each other; we played table games in the Fireplace Room and ping pong in the lobby; the hardier and more daring climbed up the mountain Saturday afternoon while others played tennis or softball, or sat around and rapped.

Role playing situations made us uncomfortable because they challenged us really to be honest about how we feel. Jim Jackson and Yvonne Delk, resource leaders, helped us to examine where we are in black-white relations. Our feelings were sometimes clear, sometimes confused. We did not always know what role we were supposed to play. As we reflected on this dilemma, we know that this is life!

But we ate heartily, we played hard, we worshipped, we rapped, we sang, and as we left Camp Sumatanga on a bright Sunday afternoon, we were glad that we had been there; but we were bothered because we still had much to think about; such as "What did the experience con-

Atlanta Skillshop Held

Three groups representing concerns for Peace, Planning Together, and Religious Education, met recently in a Skillshop held at First Congregational Church, Atlanta, Ga. After surfacing their needs and interests, they set in motion ways of implementing strategies. Two lay persons from each of the five churches in Metropolitan Atlanta will meet, survey plans considered at the Skillshop, and then propose action for the churches. It is hoped that the five churches can develop a metropolitan strategy as well as share resources and strength.

Savannah Skillshop Follow-Through Weekend of May 19

As a direct result of the Skillshop held at First Congregational Church, Savannah, Ga., Sunday, February 13, plans are under way for a weekend at Dorchester Center, McIntosh, Ga, beginning May 19. Area churches will receive detailed notice shortly.

Ala.-Tenn. Association, through its Executive Council, suggested that the Moderator, Don Orander, and the Treasurer, Hubert Richter, visit the churches in the association. Roy Meinke, of Huntsville, and a representative from the Association to the Board of Directors of the Southeast Conference, will join the team whenever possible. They have already met with the Church Council of the Pilgrim Church, Birmingham, and are ready to receive invitations from other churches. Such visitation should help the Association come alive in the eyes of the local church.

Miss Hedwig Schaeffer, Rev. Menzel Married

A letter from the former Miss Hedwig Schaeffer tells us of her marriage on January 10, 1972, to Rev. Emil W. Menzel:

"It was a very quiet affair at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Seybold in New Cumberland, Pa. . . . The marriage rites were performed by an old friend, Rev. Braynard Kurkowski . . . followed by Holy Communion. . . . It was all beautiful and very impressive."

The Menzels are now at home at 703 Leisure Lane, Waverly, Ohio 45690.

Many of us have been enlightened by the former Miss Schaeffer's presentations on Our Christian World Mission as she has moved into various parts of the Southeast Conference. She also spoke at the 1971 Annual Meeting held in Nashville, Tenn.

Midway Observes Centennial Anniversary

DR. JAMES EATON, PASTOR, LEADS THE CENTENNIAL OBSERVANCE

A capacity crowd attended Midway Congregational Church Sunday, January 23, 1972, when the congregation celebrated the 100th Anniversary of its founding.

The speaker, and former pastor, the Reverend Mr. V. W. Douglas of Gary, Indiana, reminded his hearers, however, that the present congregation is a continuation of a church established 217 years ago, by settlers from Dorchester, South Carolina.

Using the Scriptural references of "holy ground" and "memorial stones," the Rev. Mr. Douglas reminded his hearers of the grace of God which had enabled the church not to be consumed by its environment. As he concluded he declared, "The people and not the building are memorial stones. Search your own hearts to see if you are a memorial stone."

Miss Augusta Pettie, Savannah, Moderator of Georgia-South Carolina Association U.C.C., brought greetings. Members of First Church, Savannah, and Plymouth Church, Charleston, S. C., also attended.

At the conclusion of the service, Dr. James A. Eaton, host pastor, invited all to dinner in Dorchester Center; each person also received a souvenir program.

Mrs. Sallie W. Roberts was chairman for the event.

Northwoods Project Now Under Way

A new church project is under way in North Charleston, being sponsored by several denominations. It is now called "The Northwoods Cooperative Church." Upon recommendation by the Ga.-S. C. Association and the Executive Committee of the Southeast Conference, the Board for Homelands Ministries and the Southeast Conference will assist in the sponsorship of this new church venture in a limited way in 1972, $1,333.33 for the year. Rev. H. Carroll Cash, formerly a Presbyterian minister in Savannah, has accepted the call to be the organizing minister of the new project and has moved to Charleston.

Brookmeade, Nashville

Brookmeade Church, Nashville, Tenn., "has a good thing going," in the form of a "most vital Adult-Senior High Discussion Group on Sunday mornings at 11:30." Discrimination has been the theme around which their study has been centered. The group stays with a topic until they feel they have given it adequate coverage. Rev. Samuel Kibicho, an East African Presbyterian minister, has led the group in thinking through the relationship of missions to colonialism, followed by a discussion on "Christianity and the question of violence in the African freedom struggle."

Jackie Shrago began as resource leader on "discrimination against women" on March 5.

These group experiences have been described as "the shortest 45 minutes in the week."

United Church, Huntsville, Ala., Studies Goals

Mrs. Betty Rogers is Chairman of a committee at United Church, Huntsville, appointed to study goals and identity.

Last month the Women's Fellowship donated $200 to Church of the Savior, Knoxville, Tenn., to help with their building project, although the Huntsville Church itself has a heavy indebtedness.

They also gave $125 toward the purchase of educational supplies for the Church School and an additional $100 for materials to improve the rest rooms. Money came out of profits from the Christmas Bazaar.

Lenten Series Announced

Rev. Donald P. Flick, Pastor of Church of the Savior, Knoxville, Tenn., led his people in a series entitled "More Life Than Death" during Lenten Sunday morning services. Dealing with the Christian understanding of death, meditations were followed by time for reflection in the adult church school classes. A study guide entitled Where Is Thy Sting? was also utilized.

As part of the series, forms prepared by the Spiritual Council of the congregation were distributed to help families think through matters such as funeral arrangements, wills, body disposition, etc.

Pilgrim Church, Birmingham

Pilgrim Church, Birmingham, Ala., has selected Richard and Brenda Barnes as Youth Directors. The Barnes' met with the young people for the first time on February 13.

Although they are both Presbyterians, Dick and Brenda will make Pilgrim their church home while in Birmingham. Dick attends UAB seeking admission to Medical School in the entering class of 1973. Brenda is a housewife and mother, kept busy by her active toddler and her hobby of sewing.

Rev. George R. Watson Dies

Funeral services were held recently for Rev. George R. Watson of Deatsville, Ala., long-time minister in the Southeast Conference area. The Rev. Mr. Watson had been in failing health for several months.

In addition to his widow, Mrs. Arrie Watson, to whom he had been married for almost forty-seven years, he is survived by three daughters, two sons, thirteen grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, two sisters and a brother.

Mrs. Watson lives at R. R. 2, Box 650, Deatsville, Ala. 36022.

Clergy Discount Assailed

Harold H. Wilke, of the Council for Church and Ministry, urges U.C.C. ministers not to join an organization called The United Clergymen's International, Inc.

The organization, according to Mr. Wilke, was formed to get discounts for clergymen.

"We see no difficulty whatever in the granting of discounts by local businesses as an expression of a trust relationship with a minister in his community," said Mr. Wilke "But this organization exploits that good will and formalizes it."

"We put on the conscience of the minister the decision as to whether showing his gold card indicating membership in the United Clergymen's International, Inc., truly represents the way he thinks the Christian ministry should stand before the world," he concluded.

U. C. C. Aids Black Colleges

The United Church of Christ has contributed a million and a half dollars in emergency aid to six Black colleges historically related to it, President Robert V. Moss, announced recently.

Dr. Moss presented checks for $250,000 each to the Presidents of the six schools: Dr. Broadus Butler, Dillard University, New Orleans, La.; Dr. James Lawson, Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. John T. King, Huston-Tillotson College, Austin, Tex.; Dr. Odell Horton, LeMoyne - Owen College, Memphis, Tenn.; Dr. Herman Long, Talladega College, Talladega, Ala.; and Dr. George Owens, Tougaloo College, Tougaloo, Miss.

The United Church took out a commercial loan to obtain emergency funds. Principal and interest will be paid from proceeds of a multi-million dollar fund-raising drive to be conducted among members of the U.C.C. for these colleges and for overseas higher educational institutions related to the UCBWM.

The Black colleges were founded more than 100 years ago by the American Missionary Association, an agency of the Congregational Christian Churches. The U.C.C. has maintained a continuing relationship with the schools.

Negotiations of the loan and the fund-raising drive are authorized by an action of the denomination's General Synod.

Dollar Drop Affects Missions

Overseas mission fields of the Board for World Ministries will suffer a drop of between $100,000 and $150,000 in purchasing power in 1972 because of the devaluation of the dollar, according to a study made by John F. Fairfield, associate treasurer. Hardest hit missions are in Rhodesia, India, Turkey and Japan.

CCSA Backs Women's Rights

The U.C.C. Council for Christian Social Action has voted to support the Equal Rights Amendment, which states: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States on account of sex."

Copies of a study on the amendment are available from CCSA's Washington Office, 110 Maryland Ave., N.E., Washington, D. C. 20002.

Bonanza U.C.C., Jonesboro, Ga., and neighboring Lovejoy Methodist Church recently hold a joint evening service. This is the beginning of a sharing effort between the two relatively small churches. They hope to combine forces on many projects that will benefit both congregations.

Lay women of the church took charge of Morning Worship on February 20, using the theme "Do According to Your Faith." Mrs. Jan Barker and Mrs. Lorelei Bonner delivered the messages. A candle-lighting ceremony at the end of the service symbolized their goal to light a spiritual contagious bonfire that will encompass the world.

'LEARNING CENTER' RESOURCE AVAILABLE

If you are not completely hung up on the idea that age-group classes are the only way that Christian Education can be undertaken in the local church, then you will want to study carefully recently issued materials on innovative approaches to this important task.

One newer resource is a 48-page duplicated booklet called The Learning Center Approach, including guidelines for understanding, planning and utilizing. Developed by the New Forms/Models Work Group of the Division of Christian Education, U.C.C., it is a very clear, step-by-step presentation well worth looking into. This resource is available from Central Distribution Service, P. O. Box 7286, St. Louis, Mo. 63177, at $1.25 per copy.

The March issue of Colloquy also contains some very very helpful materials on the traditional Sunday Church School, as well as other approaches to the church's ministry of education. Be sure to get hold of a copy and study it carefully with your church's Board of Christian Education. You'll find it well worth the effort.

Attend A Missions Conference In 1972

Mission can really come alive for participants in one of the 1972 Interdenominational Summer Mission Conferences. Foci of concern will be "Faith and Justice" and "India: One-sixth of the World's People."

The following are a few of the Conferences "near-by":

June 26-30, Eastern Ecumenical Conference, Brandywine College, Delaware. Contact the Rev. Richard Bailey, 217 N. Bradford, Dover, Delaware 19901.

July 17-21, Mt. Sequoyah Conference on Ecumenical Mission, Arkansas City, Mo. Contact the Rev. Walter Price, Box 839, Jefferson City, Mo. 65101.

July 31-Aug. 4, Midwest Conference on CWM, Naperville, Illinois. Contact the Rev. Dwight Busacca, 10 East School Avenue, Naperville, Ill. 60540.

Since some of our readers may want to travel to far away places, other Conferences are being held in South Dakota, Massachusetts, Hawaii, California, New York, and Oregon. The Southeast Conference has a complete listing, with names of contact persons for each.

Where Your Money Goes: To "Enable" Lay People

Just over one cent (1.1c to be exact) out of every $10.00 placed in the offering plate by members of the United Church of Christ goes to support the work of our national Council for Lay Life and Work. The strategic intent of the Council has been summarized by its executive secretary, Hartland Helmich, in this way: "to enable members of the United Church of Christ to be effective participants in the church's presence in the world, linked with members of other churches in the service of God in their day-to-day living as workers, citizens, and neighbors."

In a time when the established church is often under fire, the Council seeks to provide congregations with "renewal of nerve" and "recovery of confidence." It is helping local congregations to redevelop their organizational life styles for the contemporary world and is enabling lay leaders to develop skills so they can function more efficiently.

Mission: Overseas Medical

Support of hospitals overseas is only one way in which the United Church for World Ministries stretches out its arms in compassion and service throughout the earth. Where it is engaged in evangelism, education, agriculture, relief and rehabilitation, rural development, and planned parenthood, the UCBWM is our representative; our dollars go where we personally may be unable to go and serve.

DID YOU KNOW . . .

1. Ten years ago it cost $3,604 a year to support a missionary in the field? Today the average cost is $6,910.
2. Every day 324,000 babies are born, and 133,000 people die, increasing the world's population by 190,000 daily?
3. That in the first quarter of 1971 the United Church of Christ sponsored 295 Cuban refugees?
4. The Board for World Ministries' budget has an item of $25,000 for family planning? In India alone a million babies are born every month.
5. Americans spend $81 billion a year for food, $59 billion for housing, $51 billion for cars, $25 billion a year for medical care? Furthermore, that $11 billion a year goes for alcoholic drinks, $8 billion for tobacco, $3½ billion for pets, $210 million for dog food, and $192 million for foreign missions?

Ways To Aid Communism

1. Be suspicious of your leaders in the church and state. If you don't like them and what they do, call them "Communists."
2. Talk down the church. That's what they do behind the Iron Curtain. Results: the churches have become "Museums."
3. Criticize public schools and teachers. Spread rumors that the textbooks are "slanted" toward Communism.
4. Quarrel with your neighbors. (Perhaps they have a different racial or national background). Become a divisive factor in church, home and community. Communism thrives on factional issues.
5. Be a "sharper" in the matter of taxes. Evade all if you can. Try to fool the tax collector.
6. Believe all the bad news you hear, but doubt the good. Pessimism and distrust help Communism.
7. Refuse to support the church and its related institutions, because someone said, they are "leftists" and most ministers are either "pink" or "red."
8. Believe that World War III is inevitable.
9. Have no faith in the United Nations organization. Do your best to destroy it.
10. Deny the power of the spiritual. Put your faith in the material. Serve Mammon rather than God!
